This is a fact sheet on Apps that use emerging best practices associated with intergenerational programs.

Intergenerational programs are those that connect younger and older generations to foster positive experiences. Research continues to grow noting that when successfully delivered, intergenerational programs result in positive health effects, child learning, and appropriate socialization for both young and old (Jarrott, 2011).

Facilitator Ideas

Intergenerational

1. One adult and several children can create melodies by selecting various drop icons.
   a. The melodies are relaxing in nature.
2. An iPad can also be connected to an LCD projector to use as a group activity allowing different participants to take part.
3. Questions or conversations stemming from use of this app may inform subsequent activities (for example an activity involving instruments that emit similar noises to those created with the app).

Single generation

1. Adults can work individually at creating melodies.
2. Children can also work individually or in pairs.
3. An entire class can participate using one iPad connected to an LCD projector.

Best Practices for Intergenerational Programming

1. Staff members of the adult and the child program collaborate to plan activities.
2. Participants involved in decision making about the activity and during activities.
3. Participants are prepared ahead of time and reflect on activity afterwards.
4. Participation is voluntary.
5. Activities reflect interests, backgrounds, and social histories of program participants.
6. Activities are age and role-appropriate.
7. Activities support interaction among IG participants.
8. Facilitators skillfully stage the environment to promote interaction.
9. Adaptive equipment is used as appropriate.
10. Facilitators consider the social environment and the role of staff members.
11. Document & communicate experiences to build upon in future activities.
